Nineteenth Sunday

after Pentecost

October 4, 2026

Today's lessons:

Exodus 20:1-4, 7-9, 12-20 God, who had led the Israelites out of slavery into a new life as his own people, now gives them a basic set of rules for their relationship: the Ten Commandments.

Psalms 19 God's wisdom has established ways and laws for astronomical objects (laws of physics), and for human beings as well (commandments).

Philippians 3:4b What Paul used to see as the advantages of being a devout Jew turn out to be disadvantages when it comes to being a good Christian because a Christian can't count on his or her own merits but only on Jesus Christ. Jesus tells a parable that illustrates how God's messengers are often perceived as a threat by those who are supposed to act as God's stewards but are really serving their own interests.

Matthew 21:33-46

The Wicked Tenants

Having a close look at the words you see at the left and which are really all from the parable Jesus is telling to the chief priests and Pharisees, are you able to figure out the words Jesus quotes from scripture (actually from Ps 118)?

OF COURSE, THE TEN COMMANDMENTS

Everybody knows them (more or less). But opinions on them differ: are they

ODDITY OR HUGE MORAL

But when you rearrange the letters here, it becomes clear what makes them really important, that is who is the speaker here!

The order God gave is good

Psalm 19 parallels the order of God's creation that we see in the planets and stars to the order of the Law that God gave to Israel.

So, can you bring some order to these confused letter tiles?

Real Value

Paul could be considered the guy who had it all. But now he has had a change of heart: compared to what he has in Jesus Christ, it all means nothing to him!
