Women's discipleship opportunity! ~ God calls us in His word (Titus 2:3-5) as multigenerational women to invest in each others lives. ~Younger ladies in the church have expressed interest in connecting with older ladies to learn from their faith journey through life circumstances. Praise God! This is exciting!

(See below for more description on why mentorship is important and what it entails)

Forms to sign up to be a Mentor or Mentee are at the info desk with a write up as to what your responsibilities would be. Deadline to sign up is November 22, 2026.

Why older Christian women need to mentor younger Christian women.

1. The Bible requires cross-generational discipleship. Titus 2:3-5 expects that young women will learn from older women who have lived out their faith in the Lord. There is simply something powerful about spending time with others who have already walked in our shoes and have successfully fought the battle of faith.

2. God never expected us to travel our journey alone. It is through relationships that we give and experience God's love and hold each other accountable for godly living. Younger women especially need older women to walk with them.

3. Our churches are filled with godly women who can make a difference in these situations, but few older women have taken this responsibility as seriously as they should have.

4. Younger women are longing for mentors in the faith.

5. Even a few minutes of godly attention can change a younger woman's life. Investing in a younger woman does not require a seminary degree or a ministry calling. All it requires is an older woman who walks with God and who's willing to commit time and energy to the next generation
