Faith in an Age of AI - Sermon Reflection Questions

Faith in Public Sermon Series

Personal Reflection Questions

1. Where are you feeling the most anxiety or uncertainty about the future, particularly as technology and AI continue to change the world?
2. Are there things you are trusting to provide security, significance, or control that cannot ultimately bear that weight?
3. How does remembering that you are made in the image of God, but are not God, change the way you think about your identity and purpose?
4. Is there an area of your life where you may be allowing technology to do something that is important for your own growth, learning, or formation?
5. What would it look like for you to remain faithful to God in the present, rather than trying to master or control the future?

Group Reflection Questions

1. What concerns or opportunities do you see emerging as artificial intelligence becomes a greater part of everyday life?
2. The sermon suggested that the struggle involved in learning, creating, and discovering is itself important. Where have you experienced the value of that struggle in your own life?
3. How might our understanding of Imago Dei shape the way we use technology and relate to other people in an increasingly technological world?
4. Consider the four responses: Resist, Renew, Reclaim, and Remain. Which one do you think is most important for the church in this moment? Why?
5. What does it look like for a community of faith to live with hope and humility in a world that feels increasingly uncertain?
