About Us

We believe everyone deserves safe and affordable housing.

The Prince George & District Elizabeth Fry Housing society is a sister and separate agency to the Prince George & District Elizabeth Fry Society, and works in partnership with BC Housing to provide a range of affordable housing to individuals and families in Prince George, BC.

This approach enables us to meet tenants at their place of readiness and ensures that supports and referrals are provided to assist them is succeeding with their tenancy commitments. Our Housing

We currently operate 128 housing units throughout Prince George.

Elizabeth Fry Place

This 36-unit apartment building is home to people with an annual income of less than $44,000, aged 55 years and older, or to people with disabilities. Tenants are enjoying their homes that accommodate their mobility challenges. New friendships are being formed and a strong sense of community is enhancing the lives of the people who live here.

Irwin Place

Located at 1444 Irwin Street, this complex has 40 units. The ratio of rent classification units are 16 market, 12 shallow subsidized and 12 deep subsidized.

Rainbow Village

This 40 unit townhouse complex was built in 2000, and is located adjacent to Rainbow Park. The operating agreement ratio of rent classification units are the same as Irwin Place.

Nexus Place

Nexus Place is our homeless-at-risk project for women and children who are leaving unsafe relationships and who have safety issues. Tenancy is usually no longer than two years. As women become stronger and more self sufficient they then feel safer to move on to more permanent housing at our other locations or elsewhere in the community.

Tenants staying in Nexus Place work with a tenant support worker who provides information, resources and referrals that meet the individual and specific needs of the women and their children.
